General Situation

The high pressure areas from China extend to upper Vietnam, Laos and the upper South China. It is expected to cover upper Thailand and the South China Sea during 20-23 March, colliding with hot air over the area. Outbreaks of summer storms, together with thundershowers, gusty winds, thunderbolt and hail, will be possible over the Northeast and the East by 20 March. The North will be affected by these severe conditions in the later day (21 March). People should keep off unsecured buildings and outdoor places while farmers beware of crop damage.
